The Greatest of Trotting Meetings.

In this issue appears the advertisement calling attention to Kentucky's great trotting meeting at Lexington, October 5 to 14. The programmes are ready and will be mailed those who apply, as will the full list of entries as soon as published. The Association has offered $50,000 for the races and secured the best horses in the whole country; yet it has generously set aside the gate receipts of the first, second and third days for the two hospitals and the Orphan Asylum, known as The Charity Organization in Lexington.

The programme is before us, and it is an attractive one, full of variety and excellent in arrangement. Horsemen pronounce it the best ever issued and predict that The Station Representative Stake ($5,000), Saturday, Oct. 8; The Transylvania Stake ($5,000) Monday, Oct. 10; The Free-for-all purse, ($2,000), Wednesday, Oct. 12, and the $5,000 Special Stake Friday, Oct. 14, will prove the four grandest contests ever witnessed.

The great event, however, of the meeting is to be the Transylvania, in which 20 horses, all able to trot in 2:15 or better, are eligible to start.

Amongst them are Evangeline, 2:11; Ryland T., 2:12; Little Albert, 2:14; Ponce de Leon, 2:13; Faragon, 2:13; New York Central, 2:13; St. Vincent, 2:12; Anderson's Nightingale, 2:11; Hazel Wilkes, 2:14; Mattie H., 2:14; and Belle Vara, 2:15. There are seven more, but the above show the quality of the horses in the race. Such a field has never faced a starter, and this will be America's greatest race. Write to Ed. A. Tipton, Secretary, Lexington, Ky., and get a programme, also a list of entries.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich. and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at PHIL. CARPENTER'S Drug Store.

Nervous Prostration.

A large manufacturer, whose affairs were very much embarrassed, and who was overworked and broken down with nervous exhaustion, went to a celebrated specialist. He was told that the only thing needed was to be relieved of care and worry, and have a change of thought. This doctor was more considerate of his patient's health than of his financial circumstances. He ought to have advised him to use Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, the best remedy for nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, headache, ill effects of spirits, tobacco, coffee, opium, &c. Thousands testify to cures. Books and trial bottles free at J. W. Gayle's. 5 proper accommodations are frequent, ly obliged to stand out on the platform in all kinds of disagreeable and inclement weather, the condition of the present structure, which is a reflection upon the good taste and character of the people for whose benefit it has long since served its term and usefulness, and the urgent need, in view of the importance of Frankfort, both as the capital of the State and the largest shipping point on this division of the railroad system, for a new, handsome and commodious building, commensurate with the times, patronage and growth of the city. The petition has already received the signatures of more than fifty of the business men, and before it is taken to President Smith it will be presented to every shipper and travelling patron in the city. Frankfort is now displaying a most commendable spirit in private and public improvements, and the citizens should suffer no obstacle to defeat an enterprise so much calculated to advance the interests of the city and leave a favorable impression with visitors, as a depot of ample proportions, both tasteful and ornamental in design and construction. Earnestly prosecute the good work and show President Smith the recent progress and grounds for confidence in a greater growth of the city in the future than at any time in the past and it is believed he will not fail to give the people here the consideration asked from him.

The Old Original Remedy.

Sick people should not be deceived by pretenders who talk about "Microbi" "germs," "bacilli," &c., to sell their preparations, thus preventing people from buying the original tried medicine. "Radum's Microbe Killer" is what you need. It is now, and for years has been, making more cures than all other remedies combined. Read their advertisement in this paper. Don't be deceived.

Mr. Luke T. Taff, of White Sulphur, and Miss Annie Mahoney, of this county, will be married at the Catholic Church in this city next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Father Taff, a brother of the groom, of Covington, will officiate. The attendants will be Miss Lizzie Downey, of this county, and Mr. Geo. Taff, of Covington.

It has been announced that Miss Maggie Gaines, daughter of Prof. J. T. Gaines, of Crescent Hill, Principal of one of the public schools in Louisville and a member of the State Board of Education, will be married on October 4th to Mr. W. W. Rose, a leading young druggist, of Prescott, Arizona. After an extended bridal trip, the couple intend to make their home in Prescott. Miss Gaines will have the best wishes of a large part of this city where her parents once lived and many of her relatives yet reside.

A Cure For Paralysis.

Frank Cornelius, of Purcell, Ind. Ter, says: "I induced Mr. Pinson, whose wife had paralysis in the face to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. To their great surprise before the bottle had all been used she was a great deal better. Her face had been drawn to one side; but the Pain Balm relieved all pain and soreness and the mouth assumed its natural shape." It is also a certain cure for rheumatism, lame back, sprains, swellings and lameness. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle, druggist.

Fire Thursday Night.

About 12:30 o'clock on Thursday night the cottage of Mrs. Susan Green, located on a short street which runs between Wilkinson street and the river, in the West End, was discovered to be on fire, and before an alarm could be turned in the house was nearly in ashes. The flames communicated rapidly to the residence of Mr. Milton Dean, next door, which was also consumed, and the residence of Mr. George Phillips was badly damaged. The loss is about $1,000. Mrs. Green had $150 insurance on her house, Mr. Dean had $200, and the loss on Mr. Phillips' house is fully covered. Mrs. Green lost all of her household goods, and Mr. Dean lost his kitchen furniture, upon which there was no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown, as Mrs. Green had been away from home for two weeks and there was no one in the house at the time. When Mr. Dean was first made aware of the fire next door, the roof of Mrs. Green's house was about to fall in and his own house was already on fire.

Born.

On Saturday, to the wife of Dr. R. D. Rash, of St. Louis, formerly of this city, a daughter—Elizabeth Sneed.

FRANKFORT, SEPT. 24, 1892.

PENITENTIARY MATTERS.

Statistics and Reformation of Convicts.

Rev. W. B. Cooper, Prison Chaplain, in a chance conversation recently, substantially said that he would estimate that at least twenty percent of the convicts in this penitentiary are susceptible to complete and permanent reformation. By this he said he meant they will not only become good and useful citizens after the expiration of their terms, but members of the church and earnest followers of the teachings of Christ. He thought the number could be considerably increased if the State would adopt the graded or class system instead of the present mode of confinement and commingling in one prison of all classes, from the youth to the aged and crime-hardened villain. Besides the young criminals, who have committed their first offense, there are a large number of older men in the penitentiary who were good citizens until in a moment of weakness they were overpowered by sudden temptation or provocation. Though all mankind are prone to sin, all are not born under like conditions of body and circumstances, nor subjected to such supreme trials, perhaps, as made criminals of many of these prisoners, but that in the greater reason why faith can be placed in the reformation of a man who has been unfortunate and not inherently base. His fall and punishment have awakened him to a sense of his weakness and the need of a support from a higher source than man can furnish him and naturally he enters the church, a most repentant and earnest searcher for light and strength to guide him.

Such large results in this life without even a consideration of the life hereafter are worth striving for at any cost, or sacrifice and the State can not begin too soon on the House of Reform for Juvenile offenders as the Constitution contemplated, and perhaps a later day may open the eyes of the Legislature to further needed grading and classification of the prisoners.

THE FRANKFORT PENITENTIARY. The last weekly report of Warden Norman to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund shows the condition of this penitentiary as follows:

Number prisoners last report. 897
Number received during week 16

Deduct No. discharged by expiration of time 10
Number in penitentiary Saturday 17th inst. 903

These prisoners are employed as follows:

Inside the walls 836
On farms 42
In hospital on beds 5
Able to sit or walk 20

THE CENSUS OF CONVICTS AND PAUPERS.

The last United States census shows that in 1890 the population of the country was 62,622,250 and that there were 45,233 convicts in the penitentiaries, or one convict for every 722 inhabitants. In addition to this, there were 19,338 prisoners confined in the county or city jails, making a total of 64,761 people under the sentence of the law.

The census also shows that there were 73,045 paupers in poor-houses dependent on State, county or city aid, 50,741 of whom were males and 22,304 females. Of these, Kentucky had 1,578 paupers in the list. Much of this pauperism was the offspring of crime and intemperance.

Country Fire.

On Monday night the tobacco barn of Mr. John Russell, who lives several miles from the city, on the Bald Knob pike, together with two tenement houses on the place, was destroyed by fire. The tobacco barn had about 15,000 pounds of old tobacco in it, all of which was destroyed. One of the tenements was occupied by Mr. Lanny Flynn, who saved nearly all of his furniture, but Mrs. Jane Foster, who occupied the other, lost all of her possessions except one bed and some of her bedding. The loss, all told, is estimated at $3,500, with $2,000 insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

known, but is supposed to be incendiary. The flames were so bright and so distinctly seen in this city that many supposed the fire to begin Bellepoint and an alarm was about to be turned in when it was discovered that the light came from the hill beyond that town.

The True Laxative Principle

Of the plants used in manufacturing the pleasant remedy, Syrup of Figs, has a permanently beneficial effect on the human system, while the cheap vegetable extracts and mineral solutions, usually sold as medicines, are permanently injurious. Being well-informed, you will use the true remedy only. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

A Foul Stench.

After the rain Wednesday afternoon the filth which had collected in the alley that runs through from Main street to Broadway, along the east side of the Capital Hotel property, ran out in a stream at the west end of the L. & N. depot, covering the railroad track and crossing and causing a sickening stench to arise that was almost intolerable to persons passing along the sidewalk. The Board of Health should have the alley cleaned up and disinfected at once.

Franklin Association.

The minutes of the Franklin Baptist Association now ready for distribution, show some facts that will be of interest to many readers of this paper.

The Association embraces fifteen churches in Franklin county, one in Owen county and one in Henry county. For the associational year which closed August 1st, the churches report 2,109 members, fifteen Sunday-schools, 113 baptisms, $6,465.25 for current expenses and general benevolences and a property valuation of $33,250.00. The next annual meeting will be with the Bethel Church, on Wednesday before the fourth Sunday in August 1893.

An Old Patent.

A few days ago Mrs. John E. Miles came into possession of an old piece of furniture—a chest of drawers, desk and book case combined—which had belonged to her grandfather, William Strother Hawkins, of Wood county. It has been in the family a hundred years or more. Mrs. Miles, on examining the desk closely, became convinced it had secret compartments. She sent for a workman and they found three quaint secret recesses, but they were empty. One drawer in the desk, however, was so tightly closed it had to be opened with tools. It contained old papers dating back to 1803 and 1813. One, a land patent, granting to W. S. Hawkins eight hundred and ninety-five acres of land in Ohio, near Cincinnati, and mentioning it as his part of four thousand acres of land given by Congress to his father, Capt. Moses Hawkins, for services rendered in the Continental Army of Virginia. (Capt. Hawkins' wife was Susan or Susan Strother, aunt of Gen. Zachary Taylor.) The patent is on parchment, perfectly preserved and was signed in 1803 by Thomas Jefferson, President, James Madison, Secretary of State, and W. Dearborn, Secretary of War. Mrs. Miles values the papers very highly as relics, but will investigate the land claim.

ALONZO BROOKSHIRE.

A Desperate Murderer in Prison for Life.

Sheriff Lyons, of Menefee county, on Tuesday afternoon brought to the penitentiary, Alonzo Brookshire, the twenty-one-year-old murderer of Jaller Tipton and Constable Howard of Montgomery county, whom Brookshire killed while the officers were attempting to arrest him. Armed mobs pursued Brookshire and endeavored to lynch him ever since he was first apprehended and jailed, but his keepers continued to outwit the mob by removing him to Lexington, from which place he was taken to Frenchburg Monday and tried and given a life sentence and put on the first train that came along to bring him to the penitentiary here. It chanced that the first train was headed for Catlettsburg, but that didn't daunt the Sheriff who boarded it with his prisoner and three guards just as the mob arrived in the opposite quarter of the town. From Catlettsburg the party went to Covington and thence to Lexington and this city. Brookshire, on the trip, was heavily ironed and had a rope around his waist and fastened to one of the guards to prevent escape. The roundabout route and number of guards to bring the prisoner to the penitentiary were deemed necessary by the Judge of the Court, but the law, unfortunately for the Sheriff, would not allow the Auditor to pay him for more than one guard and the mileage by the most direct route to Frankfort.

The Depot Nuisance.

If the city authorities are in earnest in abating nuisances, both in point of morals and the sanitary condition of the city, they will not pause in their work until the saloon and lunch-holes in the old market house at the depot are removed. Their offense is rank and it smells to Heaven, and the citizens are in danger of contamination from the pestilential vapors of language and natural filth that assail them on their way to and from the depot. To ladies, it requires more courage than to pass through the valley of the shadow of death, and if the citizens who have wives and daughters who are likely to be subjected to the ordeal at any time, will take the matter in hand and demand the abatement of the nuisance, the city council will not be slow to heed the warning order. These gentlemanly trustees of the city's welfare will soon be put in the scales by the people and their merits duly compared and tested, and it would be well with them if they showed a proper appreciation of the continuous complaint which the people have been raising over this sinking disgrace to any decent community in the land. We must show that we respect ourselves, if we would command the respect of others, and with these foul and festering sores at our city's gate, no visitor can enter without passing a severe stricture upon the unclean and unhealthy condition of a person who would tolerate them. Assemble citizens and take prompt action looking to the correction of these evils.

Mrs. H. E. Wellman,

No. 2 Linn St., Janesville, Wis., under date of June 16, writes the following: Kenyon & Thomas, wife, I was confined to my bed four months with inflammation of the right ovary; had a good physician, tried almost everything, got very little help until I tried your Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, about four months ago. It has done wonders for me. I can do quite a good day's work. I have every reason to believe that it will entirely cure me. I am also using your Dr. Hale's Household Tea with good results.

The Nabobs.

The smiles and songs of Henshaw are as a beam of sunlight and as the rippling of waters. The women take them with the satisfaction they do their caramels. He is ever welcome, and leaves behind a pleasant memory. The support of Jolly Ten Broeck is as exhilarating as wine. These men are makers and their company played to good houses at the matinee yesterday and again last night. It would be a virtuous taste indeed that could not find in "The Nabobs" something to please and amuse. It is a musical melody and a dramatic mixture. The song "The Nabobs" is proof of its merits—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT
FRANKFORT, SEPT. 24, 1892.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.
Report of President Williams and Superintendent Rhoads.

The report of President U. V. Williams, of the Board of Trustees, Superintendent McHenry Rhoads and the Principals of the West End and Colored Public Schools of Frankfort from January 1, 1891, to June 30, 1892, is out and ready for distribution to the friends and patrons of the schools. President Williams says the success of the schools for the period mentioned has been remarkable. He recommends that Trigonometry, Surveying, Book-keeping, Commercial Arithmetic and English Grammar be added, beaded to the course in the High School. He regards the school in the West End as a success, and desires its continuance. speaks in the highest terms of praise of the kindergarten department, and is hopeful that the generosity of some public spirited citizen will endow an industrial school to complete the educational system of the public schools of the city. Prof. Rhoads discusses the various departments and studies at greater length than President Williams, and furnishes the course of study and a number of tables of statistics on the attendance and other points of information affecting the interests of the schools. Prof. Jasper Dalton, of the West End school, reviews his labors for the year, and Prof. Wm. H. Mayo, of the Colored School, gives an outline of the history of the colored public school, the work it has accomplished and his experiences of the past year's session. In addition to all this, the report includes the rules and regulations of the Board of Trustees, and a financial exhibit from which it is noted that for the white school from January 1, 1891, to July 1, 1892, there was expended $19,839.81; that the average cost per pupil, based on current expenses and census list, was $8.15, but based on total enrollment, $11.63. The colored school for the same period cost $7,173.59. The board holds $96,000 in six per cent. bonds of the city of Frankfort.

Pupils living outside of the city are charged as follows: One, $20; two, $35; three, $45 and four pupils, $50. Colored pupils are charged half of the foregoing rate.

Altogether the report is comprehensive and most creditable in its representation of the workings of the educational branch of the city government, for which the Board of Trustees and Superintendent Rhoads and the various teachers in the schools have justly earned the commendation of the people.

Residence of Attorney-General Hendrick.
The handsome residence in the county, and perhaps the equal of the finest in the State, has just been finished and occupied by Attorney-General W. J. Hendrick and his family. It is on the site and includes a part of the dwelling in which Mr. E. P. Bryan lived near Jones' Station, and is a perfect model of colonial architecture.

The main part of the house consists of the hall and a cross hall behind, which is the added portion, which, beginning with the ground floor, consists of dining room, kitchen, china closet and laundry. On the second floor, bed chambers immediately over the rooms of the first floor, and gentleman's bath room. The third floor contains the school-room, servants' rooms and gymnasium or ball-room. In front of the cross hall, and to the left of the main hall, as you enter, are the two parlors, and on the right the reception room and breakfast room, the latter being connected by the pantry to the kitchen. On the second floor, above the parlors, are the library and two bed rooms, and on the opposite side of the hall the chamber of Mrs. Hendrick and nursery, with ladies bath-room attached. The entire house, from the cross hall of one side to the intersection of the gallery with the cross hall on the other side, is surrounded by a gallery fifteen feet wide and conforming to the general contour of the house. There is a tower on the south-east corner extending throughout the first and second stories, which affords in its elevation above the roof a magnificent view of the surrounding country. The interior is entirely finished in hard wood, the general finish being antique oak, but each room having separate finish in hard wood of its own. Gas and wires for electric lights extend throughout the house, and hot air flues warm the halls as well as each room, which is furnished also with a radiant grate. The house is supplied with hot and cold water by a reservoir immediately beneath the slate roof. Pumps inside the kitchen and laundry force the water from four cisterns into the reservoir. The farm property on which the residence is situated contains 100 acres of the best land in the county.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Street Railway and Residences.

The interiors of the Christian Church and also the First Presbyterian Church have been improved by cleaning, scouring and painting.

The splendid new residence owned by Mr. Wm. Craik, on Campbell and Main streets, is an ornament to that part of the city. It is now ready for occupancy.

Miss Ruby Macklin has another neat and attractive home in progress on Arlington Heights, adjoining the two which were finished not long ago for her.

Mr. James A. Scott is modernizing and otherwise improving the appearance of his new home lately purchased by him from Mr. Fred Carter, on Shelby street.

Miss Florence Barrett's new dwelling, at Shelby and Campbell streets, is nearing completion and will probably be rented to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wylie, who have therewithal of it.

The popular junior editor of the Versailles Sun, Mr. Daniel M. Bowman, who has many friends in this city, was married at the Episcopal Church in Versailles Wednesday to Miss Cicely de G. McCaw, a beautiful young lady of Fayette county.

Miss Julia Blackmore's new two-story frame dwelling of eight rooms, now in course of erection on the north side of Second street between Shelby and Main streets, is nearly under roof. When finished it will be one of the handsomest dwellings on the South Side.

The work on Mr. James A. Murray's sulphur bath rooms on Wilkinson and Broadway streets are rapidly nearing completion. In addition to a two story frame, in which ordinary sulphur baths may be taken; there is another building in the rear of 40x20 feet in which a plunging basin will be maintained. The water will be conveyed in pipes from the Murray Sulphur well.

The Colored Methodist Church on the old jail lot, at Lewis and Clinton streets, in which Beauchamp the slayer of Solomon Sharp was confined with his wife in the early 20's, is under roof, and exteriorly approaching completion. It will be sometime, however, before the interior work will be finished. This is one of the handsomest church edifices for colored persons in the State and in fact will present a most favorable contrast with the leading church buildings here for the white people.

THE STREET RAILROAD.

It is here at last and has come to stay. Who is it now that says Frankfort is not keeping pace with her neighbors?

For the past five years or more the matter of building a street railroad in this city has been repeatedly agitated and companies actually organized to give the movement substantial endorsement, but from one cause or another the road failed to materialize, until hope deferred, making the hearts of the citizens sick, had caused them to lose all faith in such an enterprise. The question was often asked why the Capital City of nearly 10,000 inhabitants could not support a street railroad, when a number of smaller towns in the State were splendidly provided with these great conveniences. It could not be satisfactorily answered then, but it is a most gratifying pleasure at last to be able this week to say that the road is a certainty; that all local spirit of enterprise and progress is not extinct, but like smouldering ashes fanned, is kindling into activity with the breeze of confidence in the retention of the Capital and the future growth and prosperity of the city. The road is not only promised, but several squares of it has already been laid on the South Side, beginning at Judge Sneed's corner on Shelby street. Mr. Jerry Brian has a force of thirty-five men constantly employed in laying the stringers, cross ties and rails, and within thirty days there will be a mile and a half of single track, with the necessary turnouts, in complete running order. Four small cars to be drawn by mules are now on their way here from Birmingham, Ala., and more will be purchased if the travel justifies the outlay. The route for the present will be down Shelby street to Second, on the South Side, and thence to and across the bridge to St. Clair on the North Side, and down St. Clair to Main, up Main to Ann street and thence up the turnpike to the Cemetery gate. There will also be a line running around the block from St. Clair to Broadway street, thence to Ann and Main streets. Though this is not an extensive street railroad, it is predicted the day is not distant when rails will be laid on many other streets and out on every turnpike entering the city. It will thereby enable a man of small means to provide a home for his family in the suburbs, where property is cheap, and yet afford him the advantages of reaching his business at the least possible expense. In this way, by the aid of street cars, have the great cities spread and prospered. To the four citizens, Messrs. W. H. Posey, John Meagher, Pat McDonald, and John T. Buckley, who have persistently pursued the project at their own risk to a successful issue, and under the corporation title of the Capital Street Railway Company are at last about to reap their reward. The ROUNDABOUT lifts its hat to them in token of its best wishes for the honor and profit that such a commendable public enterprise deserves.

For many years Mr. B. F. Thompson, of Des Moines, Iowa, was severely afflicted with chronic diarrhoea. He says: "At times it was very severe; so much so that I feared I would end my life. About seven years ago I chanced to procure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It gave me prompt relief, and I believe cured me permanently, as I now eat or drink without harm anything I please. I have also used it in my family with the best results." For sale by J. W. Gayle, druggist.

Nice Home.

If any family wants a large residence, with a grass farm for dairy, inside the city limits, the Hunt place advertised by Frank Chinn in another column will fill the bill.

CHARLEY STEPHENS

Passes Away by a Self-Inflicted Wound.

The city was startled Thursday afternoon by the report that Charley Stephens had taken his own life. The sad intelligence, which an investigation confirmed, fell as a crushing blow upon the numerous friends which Charley's generous and genial qualities had drawn to him.

It appears that as late that afternoon as half past four o'clock the deceased had been with his companions on the North Side. He bade Jack Todd and Zack Thomason good-bye as he was about to leave them, and said: "You'll never see me again." Proceeding straight home to the corner of Third and Conway streets, and passed to his room. Within a few minutes the report of the pistol was heard and the family ran to the room where they found Charley on the floor in front of the bureau with the smoking pistol close beside him. Dr. U. V. Williams was hastily summoned, but before he arrived and in less than fifteen minutes from the firing of the shot, the spirit of the unfortunate and misguided young man had taken its flight to another world. An examination of the wound, and direction of the body, showed that he must have been standing in front of the mirror and placed the pistol in his mouth to make sure of its deadly work. The ball entered at the back of the mouth and lodged in the back part of the head, and though life was not extinct for a few minutes, consciousness did not return, and it is probable that death was really painless.

As far as actually known there was no cause for the awful deed which prematurely terminated a life at one time so full of hope and promise as Charley Stephens'. He was in his twenty-sixth year and was for a number of years a faithful employ of the ROUNDABOUT, and later of the Capital Printing Company. As he had not been at work recently, it may have been that a sudden fit of despondency prompted him to end, as he did, the cares of life which, perhaps, he greatly magnified in his burden through some youthful disappointment in a love affair. The deceased was the youngest son of Richard Stephens, and besides his mother, to whom he was devotedly attached, he leaves a brother, Mr. Egbert Stephens, and two sisters, one, Miss Ella Stephens, a teacher in the city school. The sorrow stricken mother, whose grief has prostrated her, and the brother and sisters, who have been bereft of a loved form in the family circle, have the deepest sympathy of the whole community.

The funeral took place from the residence at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. George Darsie conducting the services. The pall bearers were selected from among the closest friends and business associates of the deceased, and the body was laid to rest in the cemetery.

The Sanitary Condition.

district and kept on tap to be obtained on the order of the city physician by anyone applying for it who cannot purchase it. He says that the work of inspection in the rest of the city will continue from day to day, and that those who fail to have their premises clean and free of all unhealthy nuisances must expect to have the penalty of the law adjudged against them. He particularly warns people who have hog pens or stables, and have been in the habit of throwing garbage about their yards or in the streets, to comply with the law at once.

Capt. W. A. Abbott, who has long been with Messrs. Percival & Hutton, Real Estate and Insurance Brokers, Des Moines, Iowa, and is one of the best known and most respected business men in that city, says: "I can testify to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Having used it in my family for the past eight years I can safely say it has no equal for either colds or croup." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. W. Gayle, druggist.

Dr. J. N. McCormack, of Bowling Green, Secretary of the State Board of Health and International Board of Health, after inspecting Louisville, declared that it is a hot bed for the propagation of cholera and other disease germs, and said it will take $100,000 to put the city in proper sanitary condition by next spring, when he thinks the greatest danger of a cholera epidemic will exist. The Mayor, City Board of Health and prominent citizens are taking active measures now to give the city a cleaning.

Auditor Norman issued a circular letter yesterday to the county clerks and assessors, and inclosed a copy of the Stephenson Revenue Bill, which postpones the date of the county and State assessment of 1893 from September 15 to November 15, and also makes taxable all property not specifically exempted by the Constitution, and which is almost everything, excepting government and church property. The Auditor announces in his circular that all the necessary blanks are now being prepared and will be sent out to the proper officers at the earliest practicable moment.

Hurst, the convict whose escape is mentioned on another page of this paper, was captured Thursday night and returned to the prison by Farmer Quarles, who lives six miles out of this city on the Owenton turnpike. He sought employment of Mr. Quarles intending to flee the county in the night, but before that time Warden Norman's hand bill announcing the escape of a convict attracted the notice of Mr. Quarles who reported it at the prison, and with Guard Tom Ed. Dailey succeeded in placing Hurst again within the walls.

Appropos of the recent death of the Quaker poet and bachelor, John G. Whittier, the following lines, which it was said at the time they were first published a number of years ago, were written by him at the request of a young lady for his autograph:

"Ah ladies, you love to lay a tax
On my poor little paper parcel of fame;
Yet strange it seems that among you all
Not one is willing to take my name—
To write and receive, 'Till the angels pity,
The wearful words, thine truly, Whittier."

The "Orphan" Brigade, Confederate, will hold their annual re-union at Paris on Wednesday next. Every preparation has been made for their entertainment, and a good time is promised all the old veterans who may attend.

Robt. Bartlett, charged with the murder of the wife of Dr. Contri, of Carroll county, was brought to this city Friday night by the Sheriff of Carroll county and placed in the custody of Jailer Minus Williams for safe keeper. Immediately after the killing of the woman Bartlett disappeared but was captured a month ago in South Dakota and brought back to Kentucky to answer for his crime. It was feared that a mob would execute summary vengeance on him and Judge Montfort, in continuing the case for trial next term, ordered the prisoner sent to Frankfort as a precautionary measure to avert any such unlawful proceeding.

The attraction for women that some men possess is remarkable. Spaninger, who has been on trial in Louisville on the charge of poisoning Mrs. James Austin and Mrs. Ed. Sherrill, not only had one wife living and one dead, but maintained improper relations with a number of other women who were jealous of each other over the attention which Spaninger paid to them. Now to give emphasis to this power which some men, usually the most unattractive to their fellow-men, have over women, there came to this city Wednesday the two wives of F. E. Rose, the bigamist in the penitentiary, to plead jointly with the Governor for their husband's pardon. One wife was from Louisville and the other from Hamilton, O., and they were introduced to the Governor as Mrs. Rose No. 1 and Mrs. Rose No. 2. The pardon was not granted but the wives together went to the penitentiary and wept over and embraced their recreant husband, and departed for their homes, happier in loving such a man than never to have loved at all.

This city may yet have a battery. Capt. Noel Gaines has been requested by Adjutant General Gross to muster in about thirty or more young men to organize a battery, to consist of two gatin and two field guns. Capt. Gaines has the matter under consideration and will probably accept and take the command of the battery. If organized the battery will be attached to the Second Regiment, in which Company H., of this city, recently mustered out by reason of the expiration of their term of service, won the colors of the regiment and such signal praise for their bearing and drilling at the encampment here a year ago.

Joseph B. Rucker, editor of the Reporter, of Somerset, Kentucky, and who at one time was an employee of the Yoeman office in this city, was mortally wounded by an unknown assassin Tuesday night. It is supposed that the cause of the shooting was the editor's relentless opposition to the lawlessness that has prevailed in Pulaski county.

Ex-Chief of Police Jno. C. Anderson, whose conduct Rucker has severely criticised, is alleged to be the assassin and a reward of $1,000 has been offered by the county for his arrest and conviction. The wounded man died early Tuesday morning. In addition to the reward of $1,000 by county, Gov. Brown offers one of $500 and Rucker's brother-in-law supplemented it still further by one of $500, making $18,000 total reward for the perpetrator of the crime.

Right or Wrong.
Which will we have? It does seem as if some folks prefer to have the last condition of the river rather than the first. They pertinently dose themselves with purgatives totally without virtue as alternative of liver trouble. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the successful candidate for the people's choice, and yet, popular and well known as it is, there are unfortunately some who on trying the drastic remedies of former days, is to the intelligent portion of the public, but the well known and long tried properties of the Bitters appeal. Reason should be guided by experience in the matter of medication. "The best guide to our feet is the lamp of experience," said a great patriot of the early revolutionary period, and the examination is pregnant with truth. For over a third of a century the Bitters daily has met with the endorsement of people suffering from liver complaint, malaria, constipation, rheumatism, debility and troubles accompanied by dyspepsia. Let us then declare, in self and been thoroughly approved as a remedy for "in-gripes."

Deaths.
An infant child of Mr. Sam Romans, of Fork's of Elkhorn, died Sunday.
Mr. Conrad Pfeiffer, who lived near Leestown, died Friday and was buried Saturday.

Mrs. M. G. Dean, living near the Murray Sulphur Well, died Wednesday night.

Mr. Cline Stiggers died Friday night and his remains were taken to Lebanon for interment.

Mrs. Ellen Ford, aged sixty-six years, died Sunday morning and was buried from the Catholic Church Monday afternoon. She sustained a fracture of the hip in a fall last winter on the icy ground, which with her age made recovery impossible. The deceased was twice married and survived both husbands, leaving a child by each—Mr. Con McCarty and Miss Nellie Ford—both of whom are well known and have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.
